

Inequality is still prevalent in the workforce between masculinity and femininity. While we have come far, we still have a lot to go.

This image represents the juxtaposition between the fragility associated with high heels and the true strength of those who wear them.

ELIZABETH FULTON.

A photograph of a woman's outfit. In the foreground, a pair of tan leather high-heeled pumps with a crisscross strap are positioned. Behind them, a white, knee-length dress is paired with dark, sheer stockings and black pumps. The background is a soft-focus indoor setting.
